PEELED SNACKS LAUNCHES ORGANIC CHILI MANGO SNACK WITH NO ADDED SUGAR

—Sweet and spicy mango will shake up snack aisle—

EXPO EAST—Sept. 14, 2017—Consumers looking for sweet heat without added sugar can now find it with Peeled Snacks, a maker of organic fruit and veggie snacks. New mango with a kick balances the natural sweetness of mango with savory chili pepper seasoning to offer a bold, new snack customers can feel good about.

Snack lovers increasingly crave sweet and spicy snacks without added sugar, according to researcher SPINS. Despite consumer demand, there are few offerings available in the dried fruit category.

Mango with a kick is the newest dried fruit variety from Peeled Snacks and one of the only organic, chili mango snacks without added sugar available. The new snack includes the same organic, clean ingredient profile as the company's best-selling much-ado-about-mango, now with a hint of heat from savory chili spices.

"Dried fruit was our first product line, and we're excited to expand it with this bold, new variety," says Beth Kennedy, Peeled Snacks Vice President of Marketing & Operations. "Until now, sweet and spicy snacks that were also organic and free from added sugar were limited. We're thrilled to offer this mouth-watering combination for moments when our customers crave more kick."

Bursting with flavor, mango with a kick makes it easy to eat more fruit. The snack is USDA certified organic, naturally gluten-free and made with non-GMO ingredients.

Mango with a kick (2.8oz bag) is currently available at www.peeledsnacks.com and will be available in retail stores this winter. For more information, visit booth #309 at Expo East, www.peeledsnacks.com, or find Peeled Snacks on Facebook, Twitter and Instagram.
